

Naomi Boyle

MRes Title: Exploring unscheduled care at night: the Night Owls project

Start Date: April 2022

Anticipated End Date: March 2023

Supervisors: Dr Diane Seddon, Dr Gill Toms

Funders: KESS2 and Isle of Anglesey County council

My background

I've been recruiting individuals to a range of trials and supporting them through diagnosis and treatment in my work for BCUHB as a Clinical Research Specialist Nurse since 2017. I'm passionate that people's voices are heard, and that care is tailored to individual need as much as possible.

My research

The Masters project will evaluate a local overnight service which provides social care to older people in their own homes. Working in collaboration with Isle of Anglesey County council, the study aims to understand who will use the service and explore their experiences through semi-structured interviews. Previous research and grey literature will provide a robust evidence-base to improve service delivery and inform the future planning and sustainability of the service.

Contact

Naomi Boyle

n.boyle@bangor.ac.uk